U. S. To Build Big Atomic Power Plant For Peaceful Uses

Move Hailed As Answer To Russians

By William J. Conway

Chicago (AP) — The United States yesterday told the world it will build a major atomic power plant—turning war's most destructive force to the constructive uses of peace.

The history-making announcement was made by Thomas E. Murray, a member of the Atomic Energy Commission.

It is this nation's first full-scale attempt to harness atomic energy for peaceful work.

Murray termed the move "America's answer to recent Soviet atomic weapons tests."

He also spoke of how the use of atomic energy in generating electric power will exert a powerful influence in the cold war and the competition for vital uranium.

Murray, in a speech on the Electric Companies Public Information Program, disclosed these details:

The AEC will build an industrial power reactor producing at least 60,000 kilowatts of electrical energy. That's enough for a city of 50,000 population.

Cost: "Many tens of millions of dollars."

Time: Hopes are geared to having an operation plant in three or four years.

Place: The project may be located "at or near" an AEC facility for separating uranium-235, the fissionable material in the A-bomb, from natural uranium. The AEC has one such facility at Oak Ridge, Tenn. Its building others at Paducah, Ky., and Portsmouth, Ohio.

Rear Adm. Hyman George Rickover, the Navy's atomic reactor expert, has been given the "immediate responsibility" for the new program.

He was chosen as boss because of his "unique experience and accomplishments in building propulsion power reactors for the commission and the Navy."

Another factor is that the power plant is of a design "inherited from a naval project."

Rickover, 53, was top naval officer concerned with the building of the first atomic-powered submarine.

His new assignment comes less than four months after he almost was forced into retirement.

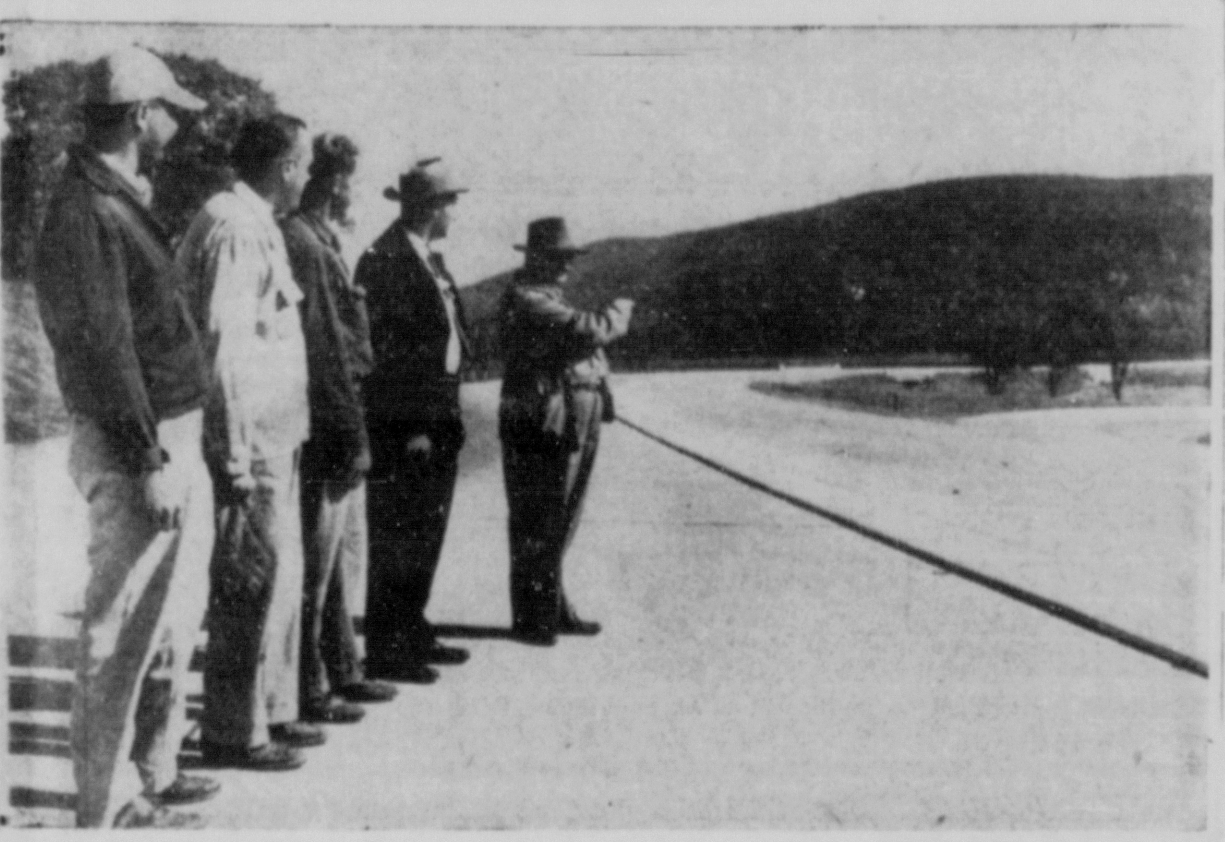

The Westinghouse Corp. will be the principal contractor.

Murray told how the AEC decided to beat Russia to the punch with an industrial power program instead of concentrating almost exclusively on military programs. He said:

"This is America's answer — its significant peacetime answer — to recent Soviet atomic weapons tests. It should show the world that, even in this gravest phase of armament for defense, America's eyes still are on the peaceful future."

Opening Date Scheduled For Dec. 16

—Delaware Water Gap — Pennsylvania's highway system will take possession of the $1,300,000 approach to the new Delaware River bridge here today, ending 13 months of work by H. R. Miller Construction Co., of Lancaster.

Crews and equipment of construction company will pull out this morning as the 6,200-foot modern highway is turned over to the highway department.

Yesterday Arthur Dinstel, superintendent, and Morgan Butz, assistant, both of Monroe County's highway department joined other state and Miller company officials in inspecting the new road.

The approach will not be open for traffic until the bridge officially is dedicated, Dinstel said. Tentative date for the bridge opening is listed for Dec. 16.

Included in the highway system is the 2,400-foot improvement to Route 402, sending traffic toward Shawnee from Delaware Water Gap's main intersection. Ramps allowing traffic to enter and leave the bridge approach also are included in the project.

Dinstel said the existing Route 611, from Portland to Delaware Water Gap's northern boundary, will become Alternate Route 611 once the new highway approach is open for traffic.

The four-lane highway sends traffic to right toll gates at the bridge. Each lane is 12 feet and a two-foot divider separates the dual highway.

Miller Company's project engineer Joseph Hallahan described the road construction as nine-inch reinforced concrete and said shoulders vary from 16 to 12 feet.

Three bridges are located along the 6,200-foot stretch. The longest, a steel "I" beam structure 133 feet long, is on the direct route toward Stroudsburg and allows Shawnee and Delaware Water Gap traffic to pass under.

A 72-foot rigid overhead construction near the toll plaza will send Delaware Water Gap traffic toward the DL&W Railroad station.

The third bridge, an 86-foot arch-type structure, passes over Cherry Creek.

Miller Company's crews reported on the job early in September, 1952 and began work on the contract date, Sept. 15. At peak, the firm used 115 men, a spokesman said. Pierce Kissinger was superintendent while the project was under way. Also on the site yesterday was Harold Quick, State Highway Department inspector.

Upwards Of 200 Drown

Reggio Calabria, Italy (AP) — Italian troops were rushed last night to rescue work in the cloud-burst-flooded toe of the Italian boot, where 60 bodies already have been recovered and the death toll may reach 200.

Public officials appealed for all aid possible. U. S. Navy helicopters may be flown in to help rescue flood victims. The U. S. embassy in Rome asked the government what aid it could offer. In some cases entire families were buried in the debris of their homes.

The disaster in the traditionally poverty-ridden tip of barren Calabria appeared likely to surpass the flood ruin there two years ago. It followed last week's North Italian floods which took 15 lives.

There was no way yet with swirling floodwaters still rising and storm winds lashing the mountainous tip of Italy to measure the full scope of the disaster. The damage spreads over 100 miles north from Reggio Calabria.

Policeman Stops Liquor Pipeline Into Prison

New Haven, Conn. (AP) — Policeman Edward Twohill Jr. saw two bottles tied to a string moving steadily upward through the air yesterday.

The other end of the string led to the prisoner's cage on the second floor of the City Court building.

Twohill arrested two men standing beneath the window. They were charged with "passing liquor to a prisoner."

More Than 400 Acres Burned

Long Pond — One of the year's major forest fires destroyed from 400 to 500 acres of brush here before its 24-hour rampage was finally checked yesterday.

The blaze started Wednesday afternoon and spread to the Dill-down Experimental Watershed region before it was brought under control.

Robert Pearce, assistant to E. C. Pyle, district forester, said the fire was the only one in the district yesterday, although reports came in all day of small fires caused when persons burning leaves could no longer control the spread.

All were quickly extinguished, however.

Pearce again cautioned area residents against burning leaves, advising "the best way to control them, if you have to burn them, is to place them in a metal container where they're destruction can be checked."

Pearce said once residents allow the dry leaves to gain a head start in burning, it is difficult to halt the spread.

New Jersey Completes Paving Of Freeway From Columbia To New Water Gap Bridge

Columbia, N. J. — Paving of the 4½-mile freeway connecting this community and the new Delaware River bridge at Delaware Water Gap is complete and elaborate ceremonies with Gov. Arthur Driscoll heading the list of dignitaries are under study, it was learned last night.

Edward L. Kilpatrick, secretary of New Jersey's highway department told The Daily Record the road paralleling the river, described as one of the most scenic in the East, could be used today if the bridge were open.

Kilpatrick said he understood the Pennsylvania-New Jersey Joint Toll Bridge Commission was preparing to dedicate the $8,500,000 Delaware Water Gap bridge in mid-December.

Kilpatrick also said the New Jersey Turnpike Authority still is studying a direct line from the Lincoln and Holland tunnels to meet the freeway here, speeding traffic from New York directly into Monroe County.

According to the latest statement of the Turnpike Authority a project extending westerly from Hudson, Union or Essex Counties to Columbia and connecting with the freeway has been authorized.

Kilpatrick said he was informed such an undertaking would cost approximately $300 million and that revenue source will play an important role in the decision to construct such a road.

"No conclusions have been drawn yet," the highway secretary reported.

Kilpatrick added that if the Gap bridge opening is delayed for any reason beyond the second week in January, New Jersey will hold its own dedicatory ceremony for the freeway to Gov. Driscoll to participate. His term in office expires after the first of the year.

Crews working under the general supervision of P. W. Kero Construction Co. are putting the finishing touches to the freeway, seeding sloped areas and erecting safety devices along the four-lane stretch.

The link between the New York-New Jersey tunnels and the Gap bridge would follow U. S. Route 46, according to present plans.

Defendant Faints At Fraud Trial

Honesdale, Pa. — Mrs. Ruth E. Spangenberg, Wayne County treasurer charged with embezzling $6,500, collapsed in court yesterday and her trial was halted in midday until today.

Mrs. Spangenberg fainted in an anteroom shortly after the lunch recess, but doctors at Wayne Memorial Hospital said she would be able to be in court today.

Judge Edward P. Little recessed the trial when advised of the defendant's collapse.

In morning testimony, Mrs. Rebecca Dein, former secretary to Atty. James Rutherford, described details of a $3,000 mortgage obtained last Jan. 24 by Mrs. Spangenberg's mother, Mrs. Lucy Schroeder, from the Wayne County Bank.

Dist. Atty. Louis B. Nielsen Jr. in his questioning, sought to establish that the $3,000 loan was given to Mrs. Spangenberg who deposited it in the Honesdale Dime Bank.

The 41-year-old county treasurer has pleaded innocent to the embezzling charge, claimed it was launched due to politics.

New Promises Of Tax Cuts Held Unlikely

Pebble Beach, Calif. (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey yesterday declared the administration "can make no promises of any tax reductions at all" next year except the corporation excess profits and individual income taxes.

Humphrey told reporters that the federal budget cannot be balanced, even in fiscal 1955, unless there are "very substantial" cuts in national defense outlays.

The Treasury secretary spoke yesterday at the opening of a three-day, closed meeting here of the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council, made up of many of the nation's biggest industrial leaders.

His words to corporation chiefs were off the record, but he later told newsmen that the task of paring the 68 billion dollar federal budget has proved "very tough."

"We will have another deficit in 1955 unless we can very substantially reduce our military expenditures," he said.

"The reason it is tough is that at least 75 per cent of the expenditures of government are in the realm of security—that is, military, foreign operations and atomic energy."

"In addition, half the remainder is in fixed items like interest on the national debt and long term programs like aid to veterans."

What remains, in the form of current government expenditures, subject to pruning in the economy drive, is "a small part of the total."

Making heavy cuts in the national security program, he emphasized, raises "a very serious problem," the problem of providing just as much security with less money.

French Occupy Deserted City

Hanoi, Indochina (AP) — French Union troops captured the deserted city of Phu Nho Quan yesterday and stabbed into the nearby encampments of Vietnamese division No. 320, only to find their foe had withdrawn.

A French army spokesman said there was "no major contact."

Dote Faces New Charges

Philadelphia (AP) — Alphonse Dote, once the subject of an intensive manhunt in the Pocono Mountain scrubland, is free on $500 bail for a further hearing next Monday on charges of larceny of auto and receiving stolen goods.

Dote was arrested with Anthony Forgiorno, 42, Philadelphia, on Aug. 16. He also is free in $500 bail.

In 1949, the pint-sized, convicted burglar and arsonist escaped from detectives while on his way to serve a sentence of three to six years in Eastern State Penitentiary, Philadelphia, on a charge of burglary.

He had been arrested in Scranton, Pa., June 11, 1949 as a fugitive from a previous offense and on the burglary charge.

A 50-man posse scoured the Pocono Mountain area for a week. Finally, a pair of prize bloodhounds were borrowed from New York state police to help pick up the fugitive's trail. Dote, however, eluded the searchers.

He was finally captured weeks later in upper New York state.

Young Blasts Ike's Farm, Aid Policies

Washington (AP) — Sen. Milton R. Young (R-ND) yesterday aimed a double blast at the Eisenhower administration in attacking what he described as its "vague" farm policy and its costly "give-away" foreign aid programs.

Both are highly unpopular in the Midwest, Young said.

Cautiously applauding President Eisenhower's decision not to stump for Republican party members in state and congressional campaigns, Young said in a statement:

"It will help the Republicans greatly in the Midwest."

Eisenhower set forth his hands-off policy at his news conference Wednesday, declaring he does not intend to use the presidency to help sway partisan elections.

However, Chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican National Committee said after a White House visit yesterday he is certain the President will support the Republican party, in some degree, in next year's congressional campaign.

Soviets Got Secrets From Radar Center

Fl. Monmouth, N. J. (AP) U. S. Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said yesterday he had information that "top Soviet scientists" had acquired material from the super-secret Evans Radar Laboratory here.

McCarthy told a news conference his information came from an investigator, James Juliana, a former FBI agent, who had just returned from Germany and a talk with a German scientist who left the Soviet zone in 1951.

"Juliana told me the German scientist worked in three different laboratories, in the Soviet zone," McCarthy said.

"He (the scientist) testified—gave a sworn statement—that while working with top Soviet scientists they freely talked of material they said came from Evans Radar Laboratory."

"They bragged a number of times that they had access to material from the Evans Laboratory. They laughed at how the Americans would react if they knew how easily they obtained the information."

Wagner Forces Court Test To Bare Board Files

New York (AP) — Democratic Mayor Candidate Robert F. Wagner went to court yesterday to try to force the lid off secret parole board files on labor extortionist Joey Fay.

State Supreme Court Justice Thomas A. Aurelio signed an order directing the parole board to show cause why it should not make public the names of persons who sought a parole for Fay.

A hearing was scheduled for next Tuesday.

North Korean POW Issue Aired

Panmunjon, Friday, (AP) — The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission met for two hours today, discussed the problem of getting bailed North Korean prisoners to attend Red "explanations," but made no report of progress.

Another meeting was scheduled for tomorrow.

Li Gen, K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the five-nation commission, said the matter of getting the anti-Red North Koreans to leave their compounds for Communist interviews on repatriation was the main subject before the commission.

Single Budget Request Studied

Washington (AP) — The administration was reported yesterday seriously considering a single budget request to Congress next January covering both U. S. defense needs and foreign military aid.

The main objective of a consolidated home-and-abroad defense budget, officials said, would be to overcome congressional resistance to a separate military aid bill in an election year.

A second and longer-range goal, these officials said, would be to establish the overlapping and interlocking connection between strictly U. S. defense needs and the defense of the world free world, particularly Western Europe.

Coordinated U. S. Effort Is Needed For Free Asia

Taipei, Formosa, Free China—While it would be difficult now to point one's finger at waste and inefficiency on Formosa there is still grave doubts as to whether Washington has yet developed an overall plan or policy for Asia.

Good men here become discouraged and frustrated because Washington operates without a master plan, moving only defensively when the Communist world makes an aggressive move.

A high American official on Formosa expressed his feelings in this manner: "We Americans must decide what kind of Asia we want—one friendly to the west or controlled by Communists. What happens on Formosa and on the mainland of China will determine the future of Asia. A Free China may require five years, or ten years or a generation to develop. Without it, Asia is lost."

It would seem obvious that everything we do here must be pointed towards the Nationalist return to the mainland. It is a program in which our military assistance, propaganda and economic support programs must all operate together, with one aim, one goal. The excellent American program on Formosa is not being Continued on page five)

Woman Teller Foils Holdup

Detroit (AP) — Mrs. Roberta Rheume, a widow employed as a teller at the Linwood-joy branch of the Detroit Bank, ducked away from her teller window and pushed an alarm button. A would-be bandit fled past a dozen customers.

Mrs. Rheume told police the bandit pushed a brown paper bag and a note to her under the cage. The note read:

"There is a gun pointed at your heart—fill up the bag."

Attempts Suicide

Paris, (AP) — Beautiful ex-Queen Alexandra of Yugoslavia appeared in a French divorce court yesterday wearing on her left wrist a bandage which her attorney said was due to a grief-stricken suicide attempt. Thirty-year-old ex-King Peter also was in court.

U.S. Withdrawing From Air-Sea, Weather Program

United Nations, N. Y. (AP) — The United States said yesterday it is quitting the U. N.-sponsored weather report and air-sea rescue program in the North Atlantic. The decision came as a shock to international air officials and to operators of American transatlantic airlines.

The United States has supplied 14 of 25 ships used in relays to operate 10 "floating ocean stations" spotted along transatlantic air routes. They are credited with having saved hundreds of lives.

A U. S. letter to the International Civil Aviation Organization said the ships—Coast Guard vessels—would be withdrawn from the rescue stations by June 30 because the program cost more than it was worth.

Indian Youth Shot To Death

Salamanca, N.Y. (AP) — An Indian youth identified as Harvey Silversmith, 21, of Caledonia, Ont., was shot and killed yesterday by another youth who mistook him for a bear. Sheriff Morgan L. Sigel of Cattaraugus County reported.

Sigel said the shot was fired by Laverne Redeye, 19, also an Indian.

Dr. James Hapell, Cattaraugus County coroner, said he would issue a certificate of accidental death.

Sigel said a group of school children had reported seeing a bear swimming in the Allegheny River. Redeye went to the bank of the river, thought he saw the bear moving in the bushes along the bank and fired, a 30-30 rifle, Sigel said. Silversmith was hit in the jaw.

Drainage Suit Continued By County Court

A suit over drainage problems at Palmer's Grove, Stroudsburg, entered the second day of hearing yesterday but then was continued.

Plaintiff Howard Palmer resumed the testimony he started Wednesday, under questioning of his counsel, J. Joseph McCluskey.

Cross-examination followed by George T. Robinson and James Scanlon, counsel for defendants Irving Jolowsky and John R. Lesone, whose properties adjoin Palmer's.

McCluskey moved to amend the original complaint filed by Palmer. President Judge Fred W. Davis granted the motion. The case was then continued to allow defense counsel time to answer the amended petition which asks for cash damages and a restraining order.

Use Of C.D. Police Up To Communities

Harrisburg GP — State civil defense authorities yesterday put up to local police a decision as to whether auxiliary civil defense police should be called out to keep order on Hallowe'en night or any other time.

"The police in each municipality have the authority to call auxiliary police to duty when they feel the situation merits it," said Capt. Emmett J. Donovan, law enforcement coordinator assigned to the State Civil Defense Council.

Captain Donovan, a member of the Pennsylvania State Police assigned to the state council, said "the police leaders of each community must use their own judgment about calling auxiliary police on Hallowe'en or any other time."

"I personally feel that it will provide good training for the auxiliary police to be called out for street patrolling on Hallowe'en night," he said.

13 Million Children Don't Attend Any Sabbath School, Speaker Tells Association

More than 13 million American children do not go to Sunday school, members of the Monroe County Sabbath School Association heard last night.

The figure was quoted by Rev. Clarence B. Stott, general representative of the American Sunday School Union in an illustrated lecture to those attending the annual convention.

Rev. Stott cited three points: One was the need for "teaching and winning in the backward areas."

Another was "teaching them to teach others."

A third was "putting the death knell to Communism." The American Sunday School Union was started in 1817, the preacher said, and has two and a third million children enrolled. Some 1,000 churches are involved in the union, he said.

Rev. Alex Croftan of Middle Smithfield Presbyterian Church named the three "distinctive imperatives" necessary in church work: "teach with evangelistic passion; teach with a crusading conviction; teach with a missionary's vision."

After relating the story of David Livingstone, he inquired, "Did Livingstone lose his life or find it?"

The convention continues today with a fellowship dinner at 6 p. m. Recognition and awards for distinguished Sunday School service will be presented. Installation of officers will be made at Grace Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg.

Game Commission Buys 3,781 Acres Of Gamelands In County

$65,000 Paid For Tracts In 3 Townships

New gamelands totaling 3,781.3 acres have been purchased in Monroe County by the Pennsylvania Game Commission.

The huge tract lies in three townships, according to the deed which was recorded yesterday by Recorder Floyd Butz.

The major portion lies in Paradise Township, 2,852.4 acres; there are 536.6 acres in Barrett Township and 392.3 acres in Coolbaugh Township.

Purchase price of the tract was $65,000, according to the deed.

Grantors were Ruth E. Howlett and Christie D. Shull, executors and trustees of the estate of Thomas F. J. Howlett, who died Feb. 12, 1951. Miss Howlett is a sister.

The total assessed value of the land in the county's 1953 assessed value of the land in the county's 1953 assessment books was $14,580, according to Jay C. Gilford, director of the Wildlife Conservation Bureau.

The transfer will not represent a complete loss of taxable land, so far as support of local government is concerned.

Gilford pointed out that under a 1937 law, the State will pay 7.5 cents an acre in lieu of taxes, or a total of $283.60 a year.

This is the equivalent of paying taxes at the rate of about 19 mills on the value of the land as assessed by the local tax collectors.

One of the best-known portions of the tract is some 400 acres in the western portion known locally as the Devil's Hole. The original tract was owned by Carl Tilenius, a New York City businessman who kept the acreage as a private game preserve and summer home.

Some of the original fencing with which Tilenius surrounded his land still is visible—high deer fencing. Tilenius died in the mid-1920's and the tract eventually was purchased by Howlett.

Howlett used the acres as a recreational area for guests from his three hotels—Skyline Inn, Pocono Mountain Inn, and the Ontwood.

There is a fairly large hunting lodge still in good condition on the property.

The additional acreage was assembled from a large number of small tracts by Sebastian S. Kresge, variety-store magnate. He finally sold the single large tract accumulated to Howlett.

Scores of property owners are listed in the deed as owning land adjoining parts of the big tract. Some of the better-known landmarks and properties which touch the perimeter of the tract are:

The Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. dam; property of Right Rev. C. A. McHugh; Devils Hole Run; Buck Hill Falls Co.; Rattle Snake Run; Mountainhome Water Co.; Mill Creek; DL&W Railroad right-of-way; and Cranberry Run.

Other deeds recorded yesterday included transfer of a Coolbaugh Township residence from Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Mazurick, that district, to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon J. Rose, same township.

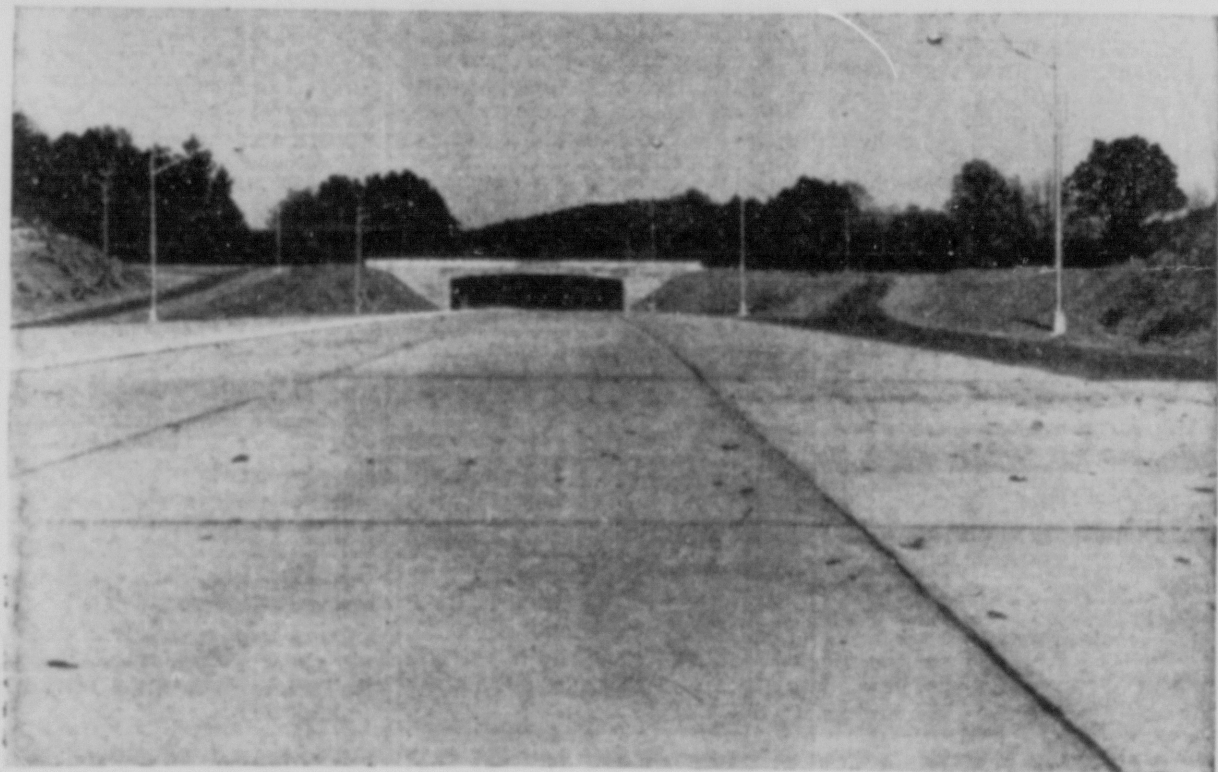

The property adjoins land of Gouldsboro Ice Co., and is on the road from Tobyhanna to Gouldsboro.

Mrs. Ella H. Happel, Palmer Township, Pa., sold to Mr. and Mrs. Ray G. Happel, Wilson, a Price Township residence on the road from Snow Hill to Broadheads Creek.

State Police Investigate $12,000 Fire

Dingmans Ferry — Pfc. Glenn James has been assigned by Milford State Police barracks to investigate possibility of arson in a $12,000 fire that destroyed a sawmill here early Wednesday morning.

The blaze, which Milford Fire Chief Foster Terwillinger termed "suspicious" occurred at the Decker sawmill at 1:30 a. m. and was the second in two days there.

Milford fire department went into action and Port Jervis department was summoned half an hour later. The Neversink Company was called to the scene and another company from here also aided.

Pfc. James is conducting the preliminary investigation awaiting the arrival of the State fire marshal who is expected to launch a full investigation later this week.

Firemen worked four hours battling the flames but the fire gained so much headway firemen had to confine their efforts to checking the spread. A lumber pile stored near the mill also was destroyed.

Police were reported investigating charges by two youths that someone fired at them near the mill about the time the fire was discovered.

In the first blaze Tuesday morning a Milford fireman, Gerald Blitz, was injured. He was admitted to St. Francis Hospital, Port Jervis, and discharged yesterday. Blitz injured his back when he fell from a large pile of wood where he was standing while fighting the fire.

Six Bands To Participate In Hallowe'en Parade In Two Boroughs Next Friday

Businessmen of the Stroudsburgs will play hosts to throngs of children and adult participants Friday, Oct. 30 in the annual twin-borough Hallowe'en parade which starts at 7 p. m. in East Stroudsburg and concludes at the Court House Square, Stroudsburg.

Six bands have indicated they will join the marching contingents for the promenade, according to Arthur Widmer, member of the Stroudsburg Businessmen's Association who are planning this year's event.

Merchants of both communities are contributing equally $400 for prizes which will be awarded after the parade in front of The Daily Record office. Harry Albert heads the prize committee, assisted by Ted Getz, Harold Newman and Anthony Quaresimo.

The marchers will receive numbers at East Stroudsburg High School where units and floats will line up. The line will move west on N. Courtland St. to Crystal St. then on Washington St. and across the inter-borough bridge.

Entering Stroudsburg borough the masqueraders will spruce up for the judges, members of the Stroudsburg Junior Woman's Club who will be situated in front of Wyckoff's Department Store.

The line of march turns north at Main on Eighth and then travels east on Monroe St. to the Court House where the parade ends.

Max Stadfeld is general chairman of the parade committee, assisted by Widmer, Lowell H. Cross, Donald Hays, Charles Cathers and Chester Miller. Peter Wyckoff heads the registration committee, assisted by Edward Somers, John Quaresimo and Herb Zubow.

Marshals for the parade have not yet been announced but police from both boroughs, and State troopers, are expected to lead the promenade.

Bands listed ready to join the parade are East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High Schools, the American Legion Drum and

Indian Summer

There are the days when the soul of man is tried more than usually, what with trying to decide whether the furnace should be started or whether, once started, it should be allowed to die; to decide whether a light or a heavy suit, with or without top coat, is indicated in the morning; to decide whether the wearing of a hat shall be resumed after a summer without one.

For these are the days of Indian Summer, the last fine demonstration of high temperatures, sunny skies, and mild breezes. Only too soon will the skies darken, the rains pour down (just a bit in advance of the blanketing snows) and the winds will roar out of the west to shake the windowpanes.

All of us in this part of Pennsylvania have been enjoying the fine days of Indian Summer, even as we look apprehensively at the lowering water levels and wonder whether the time is upon us once again when we must ration our daily supply of the essential liquid we take so much for granted.

Evidence that we have been enjoying the mild days, if such is required, was supplied over the past weekend when the roads were jammed by motorists wandering far afield to look at the forests, with their multi-colored autumn coats, and returning to town in bumper-to-bumper lines as the traffic funneled into urban communities.

But even though patience may have undergone a slight strain at these traffic tieups, the beauty of the day and the pleasure of driving away from business haunts for a brief period of communing with the country side more than compensated for irritations.

Better Polio Record

Good news indeed is the report on the decrease in polio cases this year, with the countrywide record shared in this region.

The fight against the dread disease goes on without interruption, for even with the continuing research and the occasional hopeful discoveries in treatment of polio, it remains a tragic threat to all of us.

Each year, of course, as the public gives evidence of its determination to carry on the battle, there is renewed hope that from the long hours of study and experimentation carried on by dedicated men of science, will come the answer to eradication or at least restraint of the disease.

Thus far the answer is not vouchsafed our scientists, but just as medical research has provided the answer to many diseases in the past, so we can but pray and hope that a similar result will be announced to us on some future happy day.

In the meanwhile, it is most satisfying news to be told of the material drop in the number of cases thus far in 1953 and to realize that if the history of other years is repeated there will be no increase of epidemic dimension in the remaining months of this year.

The Once Over

TV Rides The Rainbow
Color television has found FCC approval. The decisive test was satisfactory: BEEF CAME THRU PERFECTLY IN NATURAL COLORS. 13 color TV sets were watched in the commission examination the other day and it was obvious to all that TV had reached a point where you can see in your living room, turn a dial and see tobacco, nasecara, toilet soap, complexion creams, canned noodle soup, macaroni dishes, Dagmar, Kate Smith, and that little girl dragging out the Casio convertible bed, in all the natural hues. (Not a commercial seemed unnatural in the test, except for the wardrobe.)

Color TV will be officially okayed any day and sets will be on the market next year. It's gonna be wonderful. Think of it folks! . . . the time is near when you can see if the fighter's trunks are purple or red with white stripes, know for sure there is a cut over Marcano's right eye, count every freckle on Godfrey's face, detect the pink in his bald spot, and see every shading in the cooking program's strawberry tarts, and chicken liver omelette! Our black and white set had begun to bore us. . . . It failed to show whether Fred Allen's ghastly pallor had any variations whatever and we found the murders in Dregnet and all those other thrillers a little boring to the kiddies when the blood flowed only in black and white. Now we know relief is ahead. Before many months we shall be able to tune in and know just how rosy-cheeked the girl weather forecaster is and what color wallpaper is in the "I Love Lucy" dining room. But, best of all, color TV will bring us the jackpots in a truly realistic manner. Money, the FCC reports, comes over in color beautifully!

Oh the joy of seeing in natural colors all those living-room sets, watches, pearl necklaces, years' supplies of soap powders, complete wardrobes, deep-freezers and house paints! Then, too, you can tell what color the limousine in the auto commercial is and whether the gal who shows how to lift and lower the seat is a blonde, brunette or redhead. Only one thing worries us—will the commission find a way to limit the TV credit lines to black and white or must we get those in all shades of the rainbow? (Twist the dial, Jennie. The beer cans look better on the other program.)

Saturday football telecasts here what they are, we would not be surprised to hear that this week's game will be between Outer Mongolia and East Rhodesia. . . . The Yale football games on radio are sponsored by a bank. . . . With the ball on the five-yard line, third down, we wished the quarterback could have heard the appeal, "Your bank officials invite you, in all moments of indecision, to bring your problems to them." . . . Florence Chadwick, having run out of channels to swim, says she is going to take up golf. . . . The water holes should be no hazard. . . . Nylon stoppers instead of corks are being reluctantly put into champagne bottles by France, who insist they eliminate the essential "pop." . . . What "pop"? . . . "Find" won a $68,000 stake the other day but Shudda Had-dim thought that in the early part of the race he was lost. . . . Orson Welles did King Lear on Omnibus and our set blew out a main tube before he had even warmed up to the role. . . . "Porterhouse" was a big bust in the Pimlico Futurity. . . . The purse was only $60,000. . . . (Could anybody expect a porterhouse to come through at that price these days?) . . . France has just honored Augustus Parmentier who introduced the potato to Paris in the 17th century. . . . It is just as well that he isn't alive to behold what has happened to the art of preparing them French fried. . . . Professor Binet of the French Academy of Medicine says experiments are under way in crossing a potato with a tomato. . . . Whether to call it a "tomato" or a "pomato" can start a new world war. . . . Francis X. Bushman is finishing his 43rd year in movies. . . . Boy, did we dig him in Poi's Bijou next to Tom Sullivan's Onco Hotel in the old days! . . . Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt declares, "I believe that Alger Hiss, had he remained as head of the Carnegie Foundation without detection of his alleged treasonable act, would have done less harm to our prestige abroad than Schine and Cohn in their junket through Europe for Senator McCarthy." . . . Oh, well, it's just possible that to most Americans the thought of their towns and cities in flames and the streets filled with seared bodies, as a result of the theft of America's major defense secrets, surmounts any concern for "prestige" as viewed in Paris, Venice and along the Riviera. . . . Fancy Alger Hiss being regarded as less of a menace than a couple of spy hunters, even if they have moments of overzealousness? . . . We wish Eleanor would, some day, publicly express some concern over the position we are in because of stolen atomic bomb secrets, not to mention the startling things at Fort Monmouth for the past decade. . . . It would indicate she cared, as of course, she does.

Robert S. Allen Reports

Japan's Economic Peril Is Threat To U.S. Peace 'Ace'

Washington — The U. S. has run into a new dilemma in the crisis-racked Far East.

This is the growing danger of losing an ace card in negotiating with the Reds at the still-uncertain political conference specified in the Korean truce agreement.

The potent trump card is Peiping's urgent desire for trade with Japan.

American strategy is to barter this pressing Communist need for the unification of Korea under an independent government.

This plan was outlined to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson, who persuaded President Syngman Rhee to accept the armistice. Robertson made the following significant statement during his private meeting with the senators:

"We have positive information that there is severe famine in China. We also know that Peiping is extremely anxious to do business with Japan. This factor is a big ace for us in the political conference. We believe the Chinese will accept unification of Korea in exchange for trade with Japan."

But the State Department is now making a painful discovery. This is the disturbing fact that failure to fix a definite date and place for the Korean conference is seriously impairing Washington's bargaining position.

Time is running against the U. S., and playing into Red hands.

Another headache—Reason for this setback is an even greater economic problem on the U. S. side.

This critical situation is Japan's desperate plight as a result of the great shrinkage in American expenditures there due to the Korean cease-fire.

Japan is now literally in gravest economic peril. Since 1951, American armament spending there exceeded $1,000,000,000 a year. This massive infusion kept Japan from economic collapse, which it was nearing when the Reds invaded South Korea. Japan's only alternative to a flood of American dollars is foreign trade.

The precariousness of Japan's outlook is grimly indicated by the following:

In 1952, Japan exported $1,272,000,000 in goods. But in that same year of high employment and widespread business activity, Japanese imports totaled $2,027,000,000.

That is a trade deficit of more than $750,000,000 — at a time when the U. S. was pouring upwards of $1,000,000,000 into Japan.

Japan must enormously increase its foreign trade, or go broke and face possible revolt from its jam-packed masses.

Japanese leaders have no intention of permitting either of these dire eventualities to happen if they can help it. They are already taking decisive counter-measures.

That's why the State Department is in such a dither.

Japan is quietly but firmly opening the way for eventual large-scale trade with Red China.

These moves are shooting Secretary Robertson's vaunted ace card full of holes.

Strictly legal—Japan is wholly within its legal rights in doing business with the Communists.

Japan is not a UN member, so is not bound by its edicts.

Heretofore, the U. S. has been able to embargo Japanese trade with Red China through huge financial and other aid. With those factors steadily diminishing, Japan is again turning toward the vast nearby "natural" market which before World War II absorbed 42 percent of Japanese exports.

Peiping, of course, is not missing the opportunity to make the most of this situation.

Indicative of that and starkly illustrative of what the U. S. is up against in coping with this ominous problem are the following highly significant developments:

Japan has removed 93 items from its embargo list, more than 60 of them since the Korean truce.

Over vigorous U. S. objection, 11 strategic items were taken off the list in late September. They included motor cars, drugs and medicines, manila rope, rubber hose and certain machinery.

A 24-member Japanese trade mission is now in China, with the full blessing of Tokyo.

Under consideration by the Japanese government is a Peiping request to send a Red trade mission to Japan. Premier Yoshida is under powerful pressure from business interests to allow the Chinese mission to come to Japan.

The staff of the McCarthy Committee stumbled on the Monmouth case in the course of probing for spies in military establishments. At first, the data seemed unbelievable because phases of it were long known to other agencies and ignored.

When the investigation is completed, this is likely to be the story:

While Julius Rosenberg was recruiting a spy ring in Los Alamos, he was also recruiting a spy ring at Fort Monmouth. Actually, Rosenberg worked at Fort Monmouth. It will be shown that Rosenberg succeeded in recruiting clever young engineers, mainly graduates of the College of the City of New York. It will probably not be shown that all these persons were Communists, and

When the whole story of the Monmouth spy ring is disclosed, a case not dissimilar to the Rosenberg spy apparatus activities for the theft of the atom bomb will be disclosed. And again, it will be shown that the center of the apparatus was

Julius Rosenberg, who seems to have been more active than the evidence in his trial disclosed. Thus far, no evidence has been adduced as to who was Rosenberg's boss, which is important as he may still be on the job. The general pattern of such an apparatus as Rosenberg managed calls for a Russian as the directing head.

This is important to note because not all spies have been Communist Party members.

It will be shown that some of the radar material went to Soviet Russia as part of the war service, possibly under Lend-Lease. But some of it was taken after Lend-Lease ceased and after the "Cold War" started. The question that arises is whether private judgment can be tolerated even in matters affecting an ally. In a word, does the United States, as a government, present data or material to an ally, or is it done by an individual scientist or engineer covertly at his own discretion?

It will probably further be shown that a number of persons now employed at Fort Monmouth take the plea of the Fifth Amendment on the ground that to answer a question concerning present or past espionage against the United States would incriminate the employee of the Government of the United States.

It will be shown that the enforcement of security provisions was lax and that the system of promotion, while recognizing ability, ignored security.

The method employed by the McCarthy Committee in the Monmouth case is a response to the criticism that innocent persons are smeared by being called to testify. The mere act of testifying, even as a friendly witness, seems to cast doubt upon the integrity of the witness. In the public mind, he is guilty by association.

Therefore, all the Monmouth hearings are held in Executive Session, a report being made of the content of the testimony without reference to the names of witnesses. There has been only one breach of this rule thus far and it should not have happened. The method ought to be given a good try because friendly witnesses are the only true lead to the facts and they must be protected or they will not testify, preferring to risk the consequences of contempt. Not all the persons involved were spies or are unfriendly witnesses. Decency requires that judgment be withheld until testimony is taken at open hearings.

Furthermore, the testimony in closed sessions makes it possible for the investigators to have the entire picture before them in advance of open hearings, thus avoiding unnecessary and irrelevant questioning. Also, it saves expenses, a large item being stenographic costs, which are enormous.

The significance of the Monmouth spy ring is that a number of laboratories are situated at this fort which are used in experimental and development work in physics and electronics. Here radar is being developed into a major defensive weapon.

If the enemy is able to know in advance what our defensive means are, he can devise counter-defensive weapons and processes to offset any advantage that we may have. In a word, our defenses can be neutralized.

It is only natural that the Russians should engage in this kind of espionage; it ought to be routine that every possible procedure is constantly being employed to safeguard such work from spies, whether American or foreign. This apparently is what the McCarthy Committee is checking with some success.

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

"Please write an article explaining the difference between diplomacy and hypocrisy," a Louisville, Ky., reader requests.

He compliments me for being blunt, but not diplomatic. But at least I am not hypocritical, he says.

"I'd like to be the same way," he goes on, "but it gets me in trouble. Maybe I got the wrong idea about what is diplomacy and what is hypocrisy. So please explain."

I take it for granted that my Louisville friend does not mean by diplomacy the kind that is practiced in Washington, Paris, London, Rome.

That kind of diplomacy is simply hypocrisy in frock coat and striped pants.

It reminds me of an old saying, "when a diplomat says yes, he means perhaps; when he says perhaps, he means no; when he says no, he is no diplomat." Or the other one, "a diplomat is a man who remembers a lady's birthday but forgets her age."

No that isn't the kind he means. What he really does mean by diplomacy, I suppose, is tact, courtesy, good manners.

And there is all the difference in the world between tact and hypocrisy.

My old friend Shakespeare described hypocrisy with these words, in Henry VI: "I can smile, and murder while I smile."

And cry 'Content' to that which grieves my heart; And wet my cheeks with artificial tears, And frame my face to all occasions."

So, I think, my Louisville friend is wrong when he condemns the habit of having to say "Glad to meet you," when he is introduced to a person for whom he has no use, or some casual stranger, "when I don't give a darn if I ever see him again."

"It may be common custom, but to me it's plain silly," he writes.

Well, my dear sir, it's also silly to take off your hat in the street when you talk to a lady on a cold winter's night. It's also silly ing carried out for the 9,000,000 Formosans alone. It should be a part of a total program, its accomplishments used in the propaganda battle against Communism in Asia. But as far as official "Washington is concerned there is as yet little indication of an overall policy. Examples of missed opportunities due to the absence of such policy, follow. Excellent materials in Chinese, produced here by the U. S. Information Service, were not sent to Korea for use with Chinese Communist POWs. Voice of America men in Hong Kong have interviewed scores of refugees from Communist China who almost to a man tell of conditions so bad that Chiang Kai Shek would receive full support in the event of Nationalist landings. VOA men in Korea have interviewed repatriated South Korean soldiers, have recorded stories of brutality and brainwashing that surpass in horror anything reported by Americans. The fact that, in spite of the lack of a long democratic tradition, only 4% of the South Korean prisoners captured were susceptible to Communist brainwashing is a story in itself. Yet such stories, and interviews recorded by VOA men have not been used in our propaganda. Would this not be good propaganda for wavering governments and populations elsewhere?

Not only the Department of State is at fault, but many American military men have no appreciation of the economic problems that must be solved or have no interest in what goes on there or in the China mainland. Armies are being trained but the end use is the responsibility of other bureaucrats, and of little interest to those who do the training. Some of the top officers operate in a vacuum.

How can we fight the single purposefulness of Communism with separate economic, diplomatic and military bureaucracies, each going its merry way? Before we can win in Asia we must decide what kind of Asia we want. If it is to be a Free Asia, there must be a Free China. Formosa will wither on the vine, Korea and the billions we have spent there will be meaningless, Japan's democratic institutions will be threatened and she will eventually give way to the economic necessity of trading with Communist China unless we coordinate our efforts behind one overall objective.

Whether it require five years or a generation, our aim here is obvious. Unless we can make up our minds to this fact and develop a policy accordingly, we might as well close up shop and stop wasting money.

Two Biochemists Share Nobel Medical Prize For Discoveries In Human Cell Processes

Stockholm, Sweden, (AP) — Two German-born biochemists, one an American and the other a Briton, were awarded the 1953 Nobel prize for medicine and physiology jointly yesterday for their discoveries concerning the basic life processes carried on within human cells.

Dr. Fritz Albert Lipmann, 54, professor of biochemistry at the Harvard Medical School, Cambridge, Mass., and Dr. Hans Adolf Krebs, 54, professor of biochemistry at Sheffield University, Sheffield, England, share the honors and a prize of 175,292 Swedish crowns ($33,810).

Dr. Lipmann has devoted much of his career to studying the mechanisms of biosynthesis — how the body builds and renews itself out of the basic factors in food.

From this came his discovery of co-enzyme A, an organic substance that plays an important part in nearly every biological process.

Dr. Krebs was cited for his explanation — variously called the Krebs cycle, the citric acid cycle and the wheel of fortune — of how food becomes energy in living tissue. This explanation provides a general background for the study of many problems of metabolic diseases.

The award was the 44th made by Stockholm's Caroline Institute of Medicine under the will of Alfred Nobel, the inventor of dynamite. The winner last year was Dr. Selman A. Waksman of Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J., discoverer of the earth mold from which came the wonder drug streptomycin.

Dr. Goran Liljestrand, secretary of the medical committee, described the closely related achievements of Dr. Lipmann and Dr. Krebs as being "of the utmost theoretical significance and very likely to have great practical importance in understanding diseases and similar research."

Sweden's King Gustav is to hand the prizes to the two biochemists and winners in other fields at a traditional ceremony in Stockholm in December.

Prime Minister Churchill won the Nobel prize for literature a week ago for his writing and oratory. Similar annual awards for outstanding work in physics, chemistry and toward world peace are still to be announced.

Sid Skeptic Says:

AEC's Decision To Develop Electric Power Means Job Too Big For Private Firms

By J. M. Roberts Jr., Associated Press News Analyst

The announcement that the Atomic Energy Commission will go ahead with the development of electric power means the commission's original idea for development by private enterprise has been found infeasible at this time.

The decision was announced after long congressional hearings last Spring and Summer followed by two months of digesting the data. The object then was to rewrite the atomic security laws to let private enterprise in.

The finding represents a combination of two major factors — the inability of even the largest industrial corporations to make the vast investments required in a field where success was not completely assured and where profits were only foreseen in a not-too-near future.

Some companies were greatly interested, and many of them have had engineers working on plans. But the larger ones were very cautious. The cost of power from atomic reactors would be, for a long time, far greater than from hydroelectric plants and coal.

The companies also were faced with the prospect of an uproar over the form of any agreement they might make with the government covering exploitation of processes developed through a twelve billion dollar expenditure of tax money.

There was a strong core of sentiment that the government should take great care to preserve its proprietary rights in case the great new source of power should someday prove highly profitable.

This even involved the right of companies to obtain patents on processes they developed themselves based on previous government-financed research.

The Defense Department was anxious for somebody to get ahead with the research on such reactors, because it had been forced to drop its own plan for an atomic-powered aircraft carrier under the general economy program.

Thomas E. Murray, who announced the AEC decision to go ahead itself, spoke of the need for this work, and indicated a way would be sought for private industries to participate through both contracts and research connected with the Government job. Westinghouse gets the main contract.

There is no question about producing electrical energy from the reactors. Britain has done it in a pilot plant, is building a full-scale plant at the moment, and will start work soon on another. Reports indicate she is a year or two ahead of the United States in this field.

Although night traffic is smaller than day traffic, three out of five fatal accidents occur at night.

College Host Today At Art Conference

The third annual art conference will be held at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College today. Dr. Madelon Powers, professor of art at State Teachers College will open the conference.

Program will include a workshop in charge of Mrs. Marguerite Walter, special assistant to director of Fine and Industrial Arts, Philadelphia.

Now lecturing at Temple University on art for elementary schools, Mrs. Walter has wide experience teaching and supervising art in schools of a number of states. She has exhibited in many art centers and museums, and has done work in interior decorations and fashion illustration.

Prior to luncheon a film on making clay bells will be shown.

An exhibit of art materials and work done with paper will precede another film on art the natural way by Dr. Eugene Oxendler, associate art professor at State Teachers College.

Mrs. Walter will then discuss learning art through manipulative activities. A discussion of a general nature will close the conference.

Mrs. Mabel Lightner, Mrs. George Hay and Mrs. Stella Ridgeway spent Friday and Saturday working at the Methodist Church rummage sale in East Stroudsburg. They reported a successful sale. These ladies have managed such sales for the church for some years and have become experts at the work.

Mrs. Mildred Buzzard reports that 163 young people of Presbyterian Youth Fellowships in Lehigh attended the Saturday conference at Camp Brainard, Snyder, Pa. Mrs. Buzzard took with her Susan Heltzer, Eleanor Kulp, Camille Buzzard, Dianne Lightner, Mary Etta Gray and Douglas Hawley. Mixer games were played and the young people themselves, who had planned the entire program, taught the classes in Outreach, Faith, Light, etc. The day closed with a "Galilean Service" when the crowd sat by the lakeside and leaders came to them in a boat for the devotional service.

ice. Rev. Alex. Crosson used his plane to bring a group from Princeton who told of the great time expected on December 5 and 6 when the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church entertains the Lehigh "Y" folk.

Elks Selects Mikels For Sultan Contest

Warren Mikels, 19 N. Ninth St., Stroudsburg is the Elks Club candidate for sultan of the Stroudsburg Junior Women's Club "Follies of '53", which will be presented Nov. 12 and 13. Mr. Mikels is associated with his father in Mikels Motors and is a director of the Stroudsburg Rotary Club.

BPOE Lodge 319, supports both national and local welfare projects. Among its local interests has been the support of a dental clinic, which was supervised by Child Health Committee. It also distributes Christmas baskets each year to needy families in the community. One of the local projects which has been well supported by the club members is the blood donor program of the Red Cross.

The local Elks Club and the other lodges in the Northeast District contribute money toward a scholarship fund which is presented to a needy student for their college tuition. The Elks' National Foundation also receives contributions from the local club to aid crippled and underprivileged children and to assist in scholarships.

Another of their national programs is the Elks' National Service Commission, also supported by the local organization. This commission gives assistance to veterans in United States hospitals.

Mr. Mikels' container has been placed at the Elks Club for members to do their voting.

'Your Health'

From The Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania and the Monroe County Medical Society

More than six million males in the United States are partially or completely color blind—and there is no cure for it.

While about four per cent of the male population is color blind, fewer than two-tenths of one per cent of women have the handicap.

Color blindness is an hereditary defect, which, as with the bleeding disease, hemophilia, is passed to sons through mothers who do not have the defect.

If the mother is normal and the father is color blind, the trait does not appear in any of the children. But the daughters of such a combination will carry the trait which will cause color blindness in half of their sons.

If a color blind woman marries a color blind male, half of their daughters will be color blind, as well as half of their sons.

In order then, for a female to be color blind, she must have a color blind father and mother with the gene for the trait.

Many color blind persons are engaged in transportation which operated with colored signals but their accident rate is no greater than persons with normal vision.

This is due, undoubtedly, to the fact that the color blind driver, conscious of his defect, is constantly more alert.

There have been many alleged remedies and so-called cures for color blindness.

Many of these have been bizarre treatments, including looking long at bright lights, wearing vari-colored goggles, electric stimulation of the eyeballs, and taking large doses of vitamin A.

Specialists in eye disorders know of no diet, medicine, training, or other treatment that will cure color blindness.

Do You Know?—Many domestic animals suffer from tuberculosis, being common in cattle, pigs, and monkeys kept in confinement and is a common disease in poultry.

New Treatment For Bronchial Asthma Found

Baltimore (AP) — A new treatment for bronchial asthma—described as "apparently the easiest, safest, least expensive and highest producer of satisfactory results"—was announced Wednesday by a Washington doctor.

Dr. Charles F. Geschickler of Georgetown University Medical Center said the key to the new treatment is a synthetic chemical born of research to produce new weapons against malaria during the last war.

He told the Maryland Academy of General Practice that the substance never was employed as an anti-malarial substance.

But he said Georgetown research had shown that incorporation of a special anti-histamine drug into the substance's chemical structure provided a new means of attacking bronchial asthma—giving complete relief up to periods of four years even after treatment is stopped.

Dr. Geschickler said that previous treatments for bronchial asthma—ranging from adrenalin to the relatively new drugs acth and cortisone—have proved "life-saving" at times, but that all have drawbacks of one type or another.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Shows what a good day's rest will do—I bowled like anything yesterday afternoon—well, it was good bowling for me, anyway. And met some new people, which is always sort of exciting, including a girl whose name fascinated me since I first heard it at Junior Woman's Club: Mrs. Somerville Nicholson, Jr., whose first name is Parker.

How do you think a person would look with a name like that? Well, I did too—and she does, except maybe a little littler.

Well, the reason I'm sort of limping around today isn't the bowling but helping Pete assemble a desk. My share was to hold when he said "Hold this," and handing him nails—but it all had to be done in a squatting position since he was working on the floor.

Amazingly enough, it looks like a desk even though we ended up with two long pieces of wood left over, and an argument about what to do with a "tilt-board."

Assembling these pre-cut things according to instructions is much like following a pattern for a dress—one step at a time, even though it seems illogical at the time. And like a dress, you find that you could do it much better the second time.

A few more desks to practice on, and I'd be in business.

Good Fellowship Aux.

The Auxiliary of the Good Fellowship Auxiliary of Patterson-Kelley Co. will be held on Sunday night at 7 at the CLU Club in East Stroudsburg.

I suppose it seems to the teenager of today that nylon has existed forever. It has become such an important factor in contemporary living, that even those of us who are much older find it difficult to believe that nylon was introduced to the world only a brief 15 years ago, as bristles in a tooth brush.

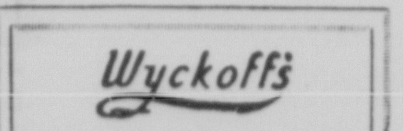

This rather amazing fact came to my attention the other evening while condensing material forwarded to our sales training department by the Textile Fibers Department of E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Company. What's more, it was not until May 15, 1940 that nylon stockings were put on sale throughout the country. Of course, we women were waiting for them. We had been reading articles in city newspapers, written by breathless young women, who enthused over their preview gift hose, fashioned of chemicals derived from air, water, and coal. Imagine—stockings from a test tube! They would dry within twenty minutes, we were told. They would emerge from each laundering as smooth, shapely and new looking as when they left the manufacturer. What is more, the fibers were exceedingly strong. Of course, WHEN they ran, they ran in all directions at once, and they did feel cool against the leg even on the hottest day!

Nylon rated more columns of newspaper than anything since the sinking of the Titanic or the signing of the Armistice. But this was only the beginning. Chemistry had opened an entirely new dream for tomorrow; a dream that appealed to the vanity of women everywhere. It was a dream that might also have appealed to our pocket-books—for the laboratory now exerted a control over the quality and quantity of materials that was lacking when only natural fibers, such as cotton, wool, silk, and flax, had been known. No longer would a disease among sheep or silkworm cultivations cause a scarcity of fabrics and soaring prices.

Today there are numerous synthetics and miracle fibers—orlon, dacron, chromspun and the like. We, who are concerned with selling fashions at Wyckoff's discussed them all at a meeting yesterday. What, we asked, will they do for the consumer? What won't they do? We came away I think with a deeper respect for the wonderful strides being made each day in dressing millions of people beautifully, inexpensively, comfortably, and sensibly.

Of all the fabrics mentioned, only one was missing from our racks. Nowhere in Wyckoff's did we have anything made of Celanese. That was yesterday morning. It was just about five p. m. when I passed through the teens department, and saw Helen Levy unpacking a new shipment of little girls' dresses. "Look," she said, holding up a tag attached to a garment that was cheerfully rosy and iridescent. "Celanese..."

As I mentioned before, it's a wonderful age we're living in. And I suppose you've been noticing all these years that whenever new things... better things... more desirable things come along, you find them quick as a wink at Wyckoff's.

Community Concert Week Nears Close

Tomorrow is the last day of Community Concert Week in the Stroudsburg and surrounding territory. It will be the last opportunity for people to enroll for the 1953-54 Pocono Community Concert Association season.

Mrs. Ethel Atwood, field representative of the Columbia Artists, has advised service clubs and other groups here that "the small city and town is the most music conscious spot in America."

Well over 1,000 community concert associations throughout the country provide between three and four million people yearly with the opportunity to hear top artists in person, Mrs. Atwood disclosed.

Pennsylvania, she said, has more community concert associations than New York.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Last week's record of picking winners and losers suffered through several upsets, as the final reading was 45 correct guesses and 18 of the wrong variety. The season's mark of 218 correct and 71 incorrect predictions gives us an average of .757, which is rapidly shrinking as the season moves into the second half. The fact that this column was lucky enough to pick the results of all three local games correctly last week helped to save the average from an even more sudden drop.

This week's array of games is no picnic, especially on the local front. A strong and confident Wilson Borough aggregation rolls into East Stroudsburg tonight. On paper Wilson appears to be a two or three-touchdown favorite, but the contest is being played at Memorial Stadium and not on paper. The Cavaliers must be rated a decided underdog, a position they held two years ago when a highly regarded Wilson squad invaded the same field and went home on the short end of a 25-6 count. Tonight's visiting team, coached by Judd Hall, is undefeated in Lehigh-Northampton League play and is favored to win its second straight title.

Wilson will be trying to race through its second straight circuit campaign without defeat, a feat that isn't too common in high school football. The same Wilson club defeated Bangor, 6-0, the same power that upended the Cavaliers, 20-6. It will be tough to bring the visiting Wilson contingent "up" for this game, even though the team is three deep in virtually every position. This column, in a fit of recklessness, picks the Cavaliers to pull a stunning upset and inflict the first circuit loss in two years on Wilson. Revenge is also a motive here.

Saturday night will find Stroudsburg and Whitehall, a pair of championship hungry grid machines in a "make-or-break" Lehigh Valley League tussle. This is the big one for both teams and although the ranks of the Mountaineers have been thinned since the Bangor tilt, I still think Stroudsburg is a good choice to win, by the narrow margin of one touchdown. It would be nice if we could pick East Stroudsburg State Teachers College over West Chester, but no teachers college in the state can handle the Rams, so the choice is West Chester by a comfortable margin. Bangor will run wild over Coplay at Memorial Park tonight.

On the national scene it looks like Army is strong enough to nip Columbia, while Boston College edges Xavier, Boston University trounces Lehigh and Holy Cross bounces back into the win column over Brown. Lafayette will top Bucknell, Yale will edge Colgate, Princeton should recover from last week's lacing with a nod over Cornell and Harvard will outlast Dartmouth. Navy should rip Penn, Penn State will surprise Texas Christian, Northwestern is the choice over Pitt and Fordham will take the measure of Rutgers, while Illinois tramples Syracuse, Temple nips Scranton and Kentucky down Villanova.

Cincinnati will roll over Western Reserve, Oklahoma A and M rates over Detroit, Iowa State to down Drake and Indiana should shade Iowa. Iowa State will edge Drake, Southern Methodist is pick over Kansas, Kansas State will edge Wichita and Marquette will upend College of the Pacific, Michigan is too strong for Minnesota and of course the same is true of Michigan State over Purdue. Missouri will shade Nebraska, while Notre Dame wins over Georgia Tech is a close battle and Ohio State tops Wisconsin. Oklahoma will crush Colorado, Alabama will top Mississippi State, while Tulane edges Auburn, Dayton downs Chattanooga and Presbyterian edges The Citadel. Furman appears too strong for Davidson, Duke will edge North Carolina State, Louisiana State will shade Florida, William and Mary looks like a winner over George Washington and Georgia should nip North Carolina.

Maryland will roll over Miami of Florida, Arkansas is my choice over Mississippi, Wake Forest should top Richmond, Tennessee will crush Louisville, while Vanderbilt down Virginia, West Virginia clubs VMI and Washington and Lee decisions VPI. Baylor will just nip Texas A. and M., Houston is too strong for Temple State, Rice will clip Texas and Texas Tech will down New Mexico A. and M. without trouble. Denver will nip Brigham Young and Utah State should get by Colorado A. and M., while Montana nips New Mexico and Wyoming shades Utah.

On the Pacific Coast the picture shapes up as California the winner over Southern California, Oregon State in a similar position over Idaho, while Montana State shades North Dakota and Oregon edges San Jose State. Oregon State will defeat Idaho, Stanford will shade Washington and UCLA will bounce back with a verdict over Washington State. There it is, another long list containing plenty of headaches.

Giles Believes People Hold Key To Expansion Of Majors

WILMAUKEE, (AP) — Baseball fans will not accept a third major league if it is "merely a group of eight new cities, however big, calling themselves major league," Warren C. Giles, National League president, said last night.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST

By Hal Sharp

GUN SAFETY TIPS

ON HILLS, A FALLING PERSON USUALLY BRACES AGAINST THE FALL WITH HIS UPHILL-SIDE ARM. THUS, ALWAYS CARRY YOUR GUN ON YOUR DOWNHILL SIDE WHEN TRAVERSING INSECURE SLOPES. THEN, IF YOU FALL, YOU WON'T LAND ON THE GUN OR DAMAGE IT. ALWAYS HUNT WITH THE GUN'S SAFETY "ON" UNTIL READY TO FIRE.

NEW OWNERS OF THIS POPULAR SHOTGUN SHOULD BE FOREWARNED THAT IT WILL CONTINUE TO SHOOT EACH SHELL PUMPED, AS ACTION CLOSING, IF THE TRIGGER IS HELD DOWN.

"You can do successfully with this game only that which meets with the approval of the people," Giles added in a speech prepared for delivery at the 92nd annual dinner of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce.

The dinner, attended by more than 800 persons, honored president Lou Perini and his brothers, Charles and Joseph, of the Milwaukee Braves.

"The answer to providing major league baseball on a broader scale does not at this time lie in the creation of a third major league, although some day there probably will be one," Giles said.

"The answer in my opinion is expansion of the two major leagues. Such a program would conveniently accommodate four cities and as I see it, it will be a long time before there are more than four cities with practicable geographic location, adequate facilities and a population with sufficient baseball enthusiasm to become major league cities."

Giles did not name the four cities he had in mind.

Entries
Chipperfield Vodka placed seventh in the derby and Chipperfield Rye was 10th in the all-age event. A total of 135 fox hounds took part in the event.

East Stroudsburg Battles Wilson Foe Tonight

Cavaliers Risk Slim Title Chances

East Stroudsburg High school puts its slim Lehigh-Northampton League football championship hopes on the line tonight when the Cavaliers play host to a powerful Wilson Borough grid machine, at Memorial Stadium. The kickoff is scheduled to take place at 8 p.m.

The Cavaliers have suffered one setback, a 20-0 loss to Bangor, against circuit opposition, while Wilson is undefeated against the same foes.

Wilson will bring a streak of having not lost a Lehigh-Northampton League football game in two years to town tonight. Last season Wilson won the championship by edging East Stroudsburg, 13-7.

East Stroudsburg will be as near full strength for tonight's tussle as it has been in the last three weeks. Mike Palmisano, Harold White, Nick Patella, Jack Shaffer, Bob "Booster" Miller, Don Herman, Jack Anthony and Bill Dimmick have all been on the ailing list at one time or another during the past three weeks.

White will be limited to defensive play almost entirely tonight, while Shaffer's ailing hip also makes the sophomore lineman a doubtful quantity for tonight's tussle. Otherwise the Cavaliers are expected to be ready and anxious for battle.

Lineup

Coach Jack Kist announced last night that his starting lineup would feature Herman and Dick Zukowski at the end spots; Palmisano and Patella will be at the guard posts, while John Verway and Roger "Red" Hartman operate at the tackle positions. Miller will open at center.

In the backfield it will be Joe Chase at quarterback; Stan Borstein, left halfback; Bernie Cise, right half, and Bob "Red" Kupiszewski, fullback.

Wilson will feature a big team physically and a squad that is three deep in most positions. Tonight's visiting crew will present two brilliant passers and at least two fine runners in the first string backfield.

The Cavaliers have taken the measure of two league foes, while Wilson has defeated three circuit rivals.

East Stroudsburg will return to action against Coplay next Saturday at Coplay.

Durando Meets Humez In Paris

PARIS (AP) — Ernie Durando and Charles Humez, a couple of also-rans in the middleweight elimination tournaments that carried "Bobo" Olson to the world championship, meet tonight in a round bout at the Paris Sports Palace. Each is hoping that a victory may put him in line for a crack at Olson's newly-won title.

Durando, a veteran Bayonne, N. J., slugger whose ring fortunes have been on the downslide, has been in Paris for about 10 days training seriously for the bout which headlines the first big boxing card of the Paris winter season.

Pleased

"I've never seen Ernie in better shape," his manager, Al Weil, said yesterday.

Humez has fought only once since he lost the decision to Randy Turpin last June in the European finals of the middleweight tournament.

All are expected to see at least limited action against Wilson Borough tonight. (Daily Record Photo)

Bangor Attempts To Regain Winning Form Against Coplay

Bangor—Bangor High will attempt to jump back into the win column tonight when the Slaters play host to a hapless Coplay eleven in a Lehigh-Northampton League football battle here at Memorial Park. The kickoff is slated for 8 p. m.

Boone Paces Pack In Grand-Slams

New York (AP) — Ray Boone, the Cleveland discard who made a great comeback with the Detroit Tigers, crashed out four bases-leaded home runs during the 1952 season to lead all major leaguers in that department.

Boone's grand slam output for the year tied a major league record held by nine other players, among them "Eake" Ruth and Lou Gehrig. Ray, who was dealt to the Bengals in mid-June, elbowed two of his bases-filled blows with the Indians and two with Detroit.

Deadline

Ray was the only player to connect for more than two grand slams, Brooklyn's "Duke" Spider, Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee, Darryl Spencer of the New York Giants, Pittsburgh's Preston Ward and Al Rosen of Cleveland each hit a pair.

The Cubs' Ralph Kiner was another to tie a record. The big slugger pounded out the 12th bases-filled home run of his career off Brooklyn's Carl Erskine on June 14, and now shares the National League lifetime mark with Rogers Hornsby.

Despite the record-shattering number of major league home runs hit during the campaign 2,076, the total of bases-loaded homers was under that of 1952. All told, 46 were wallowed this year as compared to 55 last season.

The Brooklyn Dodgers and the Giants topped the National League with six grand slams apiece while the Indians led the American with five.

Mathews To Remain At Third Base For Braves

MILWAUKEE, (AP) — Eddie Mathews will be the Milwaukee Braves' third baseman next year regardless of whether the club picks up a hard-hitting outfielder in the Winter trade markets, Manager Charlie Grimm said yesterday.

"And what's more," added the National League manager of the year, "we aren't going to give up a regular pitcher to get an outfielder who can hit."

There had been some talk that Mathews, who made the second greatest number of errors in both leagues last season, might be shifted to the outfield. The youngster led both circuits with 47 home runs in his sophomore season, but was second only to Philadelphia's Grady Hamner with 30 errors in the field. Hamner was charged with 35 bobbles.

"He's 1,000 per cent better defensively than he was when he first came up and there's no reason why he shouldn't improve. Don't let all those errors fool you, he challenges a lot of balls other guys leave alone."

Writers Honor Furillo For Comeback

By Joe Reichler

New York, (AP) — Carl Furillo, who brought his batting average up nearly 100 points to capture the batting title, was voted yesterday as having made the greatest comeback of the 1953 National League baseball season.

The star Brooklyn Dodger outfielder with the rifle arm won the honor in a close battle with teammate Bill Hodges. Of the 179 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America who participated in The Associated Press' annual poll, 66 voted for Furillo and 55 voted for Hodges.

Third

In all, 29 National Leaguers received mention. Monte Irvin, who had a splendid year with the New York Giants after being sidelined most of the 1952 season with a broken ankle, placed third with 21 votes. Gus Bell, who developed into a powerful batter with Cincinnati following his acquisition from Pittsburgh, was fourth with 11 votes. Fifth place with seven votes went to Warren Spahn, Milwaukee's southpaw ace who improved his 14-19 pitching record of 1952 to 23-7 in '53.

The amount of votes others received:

Ted Kluszewski, Cincinnati; Johnny Lindell, Pittsburgh-Philadelphia; Stan Musial and Enos Slaughter, St. Louis, two each.

Clyde McCullough, Chicago; "Hank" Thompson, New York; Danny O'Connell, Pittsburgh; Andy Pafko, Jack Dittmer and Max Surkont, Milwaukee; "Red" Schoendienst and Steve Bilko, St. Louis; Curt Simmons, Jim Konstanty and Del Ennis, Philadelphia, one each.

State Frosh Play

Pittsburgh, (AP) — The University of Pittsburgh's freshman football team opens its season tomorrow against the Pennsylvania State College frosh. Pitt's freshmen haven't lost a game since 1949.

Local PIAA Cage Officials Elect Officers

Tom Leonard was reelected as president of the Stroudsburg chapter of Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association Basketball Officials last night, during a meeting of the local organization at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Jack Kist, baseball and football coach at East Stroudsburg High, was named vice president, while Sam Everitt, veteran official, was selected to handle the combined chores of secretary-treasurer.

The chapter at the present is made up of 21 members, 17 of which attended last night's gathering.

Rules

Interpretation of rules was the main topic of business. Leonard spoke on the recent rules meeting in Palmerton, while Everitt and Chet Gross told of a similar meeting held in Wilkes-Barre on Wednesday.

Dr. Frank P. Maguire, commissioner of PIAA officials, and Mark N. Funk, executive director of the PIAA, spoke at both the Palmerton and Wilkes-Barre gatherings.

The chapter decided to hold its meeting last night so as to speed up plans for the coming season. The group was anxious to learn just how many officials it could supply to the Monroe County League this season.

Commercial 'C' To Roll

Commercial "C" League rollers swing into action at Harmon's Recreation, at 9:15 p.m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two — Worthington Mower vs. Tru-Matic.

Alleys three and four — Lanterman's Funeral Home vs. Regina Hotel.

Alleys five and six — Kreamer Ice Cream vs. Cole's Drug Store.

Area Entries In Dog Show

Several Monroe County kennels will be represented in the large field of entries at the annual dog show sponsored by the Lackawanna Kennel Club tomorrow. Judging begins at 1 p. m.

The show is being held at the Armory Building, Adams Ave., in Scranton.

List

A field of 400 dogs are expected to take part in the show, ranging from all parts of the east and south.

The Northeastern Pennsylvania Cocker Spaniel Club is holding its specialty show in conjunction with the Lackawanna Kennel Club.

Several cockers from The Robins Farm, Saylorburg Rd 2, will take part in the show.

Von Nida Sets Pace

Sydney, (AP) — Norman Von Nida shot a 66—eight under par for the East course at Royal Melbourne—to lead the field in the first round of the Australian Open golf championships by four strokes yesterday.

Eastburg Junior High Plays Today

East Stroudsburg Junior High School will go in search of its first football victory of the current campaign today when the charges of Coach Mike Evans battle Hackettstown, on the latter's home field.

The kickoff is on the books for 3:30 p.m.

East Stroudsburg has suffered successive setbacks at the hands of Whitehall, Leighton and Hackettstown, in a previous meeting. Hackettstown won the first meeting of the two foes, 27-0, at Memorial Stadium.

Announcement

Evans stated last night that he would stick with the same lineup that has carried the bulk of the load thus far this season.

This means that Bob Herman will be at left end; Al Smith, left tackle; Jim Kolcun, left guard; Wesley Wertheiser, center; Bill Smith, right guard; John Smith, right tackle; Ronald Mursch, right end; Dick Miller, quarterback; Dave Heckman, left halfback; Carl Smith, right halfback; and LeRoy LaBar, fullback.

Members of the East Stroudsburg contingent are in seventh and eighth grades.
